New York—WASHINGTON—Paris

Opening Display This Week of New Spring Models in Women's Ready-to-wear Garments

Suitable for Local Wear or Adaptable for Southern Climates.

An authoritative presentation of high-class apparel, showing latest Parisian ideas and colors, in Complete Costumes, Dresses, Tailored and Demi-tailored Suits, Baby Irish Lace, Linen and Lingerie Waists, Princess Gowns in Organdie, Mull, Batiste, Nets, and Lawn, hand embroidered and lace trimmed; Wraps and Traveling Coats, &c., &c.

Mention is particularly made of the splendid collection of "Demi" or Fancy Tailored Suits, Princess Gowns, and French Waists and Blouses.

The Princess gown is pre-eminently the correct style for spring and summer, and the soft, sheer, clinging fabrics are most wanted. Laces for trimmings are very extensively used, the heavy laces being greatly in evidence.

This same idea is very elaborately carried out in the new French Waists, heavy laces and hand-embroidery being used in profusion.

In the Lace Waists the "Baby Irish" is most wanted. These are shown here in a splendid variety of new patterns, and most of them have the German Val. laces used as trimmings; the elbow sleeve predominates.

The Iron Jacket, the Pony Coat, and the Circular Skirt are the leading style for spring, and they are made in a wide variety of adaptations.

The present display is of unusual attractiveness, embracing as it does most comprehensive assortments of ready-to-wear apparel in both tropical and medium weights.

Your inspection is invited.

EXHIBIT RARE LACES

Annual Display Is Opened by S. Kann, Sons & Co.

WORK OF EXPERTS IS SHOWN

Delicate Needlework Attracts Throng of Admirers to Third Annual Exhibition—Cash Prizes to Be Awarded by the Firm—Collection of Fancy Textures Worth Thousands.

Fascinating even to the men and raved at by the women are the works of art in embroidery and needlework displayed on the fifth floor of S. Kann, Sons & Co. The display opened yesterday, and will continue two weeks. Thousands visited the exhibit yesterday. Seven hundred pieces are shown, and altogether they are worth a fortune.

This is the third exhibit of its kind given annually by S. Kann, Sons & Co. Cash prizes are to be given ranging from $25 down. There will be three judges, two of whom are to be experts on needlework, and all are to be disinterested parties from other cities.

No restrictions have been placed on those desiring to show their work. The material from which the fancy pieces are made may have come from the other side of the earth or from the store just across the street.

One section of the fifth floor has been given over to the show. The novelties are shown on large panels and counters, while the most expensive and delicate articles are on exhibition in glass cases. Hours are spent at the art display by admirers of the work of the needle. The old and young alike are among the exhibitors. The oldest person having needlework in the display is a woman 89 years of age. The youngest exhibitor is a child of eight. One of the features of the display is a glass case containing several waist and other items in silk and fine linen garments. The contents of this display alone are worth thousands of dollars. One of the waists is embroidered with silk on washable chiffon.

Has Never Taken Lessons.

This was done by a woman who has never taken a lesson in the art. It is the work of a genius, according to the experts on such questions. Another waist is of the Brussels net variety. The variegated needlework in this particular design is said to be wonderful. The texture of the goods and the delicate nature of the embroidery are certainly remarkable. One of the waists is of silk with white embroidery. Each of the garments is worth from $50 to $75.

Two sofa pillows, made by a wealthy Washington woman, are among the exhibits. Covering the top of each pillow are 75,000 beads of different colors. These two articles are worth $100 and have been given to an orphan asylum. These pillows are works of art in themselves and worthy of particular notice. Many months were required in their construction, all of the work having been done entirely by the same two hands. Notwithstanding the millions of stitches, the arrangement of each of the thousands of beads in their respective places, there is not a single misfit in either of the pillows.

French Handkerchief Admired.

No woman who visits the display fails to be attracted to an elegant French handkerchief of point lace. It is valued at $15. The design and the work about the deep edges is the admiration of all. "If I just had that handkerchief," a woman said yesterday, "I wouldn't want anything else in the world."

Tatting handkerchiefs as well as those in Hattenberg are shown among the various assortment of these little delicate articles, all works of months and the pride of some woman's heart. Several crayon-like and other pieces of patchwork are shown.

A plain linen bed sheet that cost $3 originally perhaps, has been transformed into an article worth $50. The edges have been beautifully ornamented by means of a fine drawwork border. In one corner of the sheet the initials "D. L." have been placed, surrounded by a beautifully arranged designs in embroidery. Many embroidered parasols and fancy opera bags are also shown. A beautiful dress crocheted with black sewing silk is another attraction. The costume is worth $30. It is shown on a frame with black silk as a foundation.

REPORTS ON ASYLUM

House Committee Approves Management of Insane.

CRUELTY CHARGE UNFOUNDED

Majority Indorses Superintendent White's Administration of Government Hospital, but Minority Files Slightly Different Views—Various Recommendations Made.

Superintendent William A. White's administration of the Government Hospital for the Insane is indorsed and the charges of cruelty to patients not sustained in the majority report of the special committee of the House of Representatives made public yesterday. The minority report criticizes some of the conditions of the asylum, but in a general way coincides with the report of the majority in its principal points.

The majority report is signed by Representatives Olcott, of New York, chairman; Smyser, of Ohio, and Barchfield, of Pennsylvania, all Republicans. Representatives Hay, of Virginia, and Wallace, of Arkansas, Democrats, were the minority.

The principal holdings of the majority were that Dr. White is fully qualified to perform the duties of his position, and the charges of mismanagement and abuse of patients were not sustained by the evidence. The majority of the committee also found that the physicians of the asylum are capable men, and that the methods of restraint used at the institution are proper and only resorted to in cases of actual necessity.

On the question of abuse the majority report holds further, that the attendants perform their work well, and that wherever there have been cases of harsh treatment on the part of an attendant, the offender has invariably been discharged. In regard to the food, the report holds that it is of good quality and variety and generally well prepared and cooked.

Various Recommendations.

The majority report touches upon the character of the equipment of the institution, its buildings, and the handling of the patients, and speaks favorably of these. In touching upon suggested changes the majority members hold that the management of the hospital should be under one head, that the per capita cost of the hospital, as now fixed, should not be reduced; that there is no necessity for the creation of a lunacy commission in the District, and that the law relative to the commitment of patients should be repealed and a new one enacted.

In closing their report the majority members recommend, that in view of the fact that the superintendent of the hospital is authorized by statute to make such improvements as he might think necessary out of the money appropriated for the support fund of the hospital and the pension money now in his hands, that the statute should be amended so that the superintendent should be relieved of performing the duties of disbursing officer and should be given authority to appoint such an official to act under his direction. The majority further recommends that the statute be amended so as to make provision for the creation of a separate institution in the District to care for the criminally insane now in the hospital. Other recommendations are that steam heaters be used to heat the food hot after it leaves the kitchens, and that at least one, and perhaps two, new kitchens should be installed.

Minority Report.

The minority of the committee's report states that whereas the staff from an ancient cruelty, it has been proven that cases of cruelty to patients have occurred, and that the fact in itself is evidence that the management under which they occur must be faulty in some way. This fault, the minority members state, is partly due to the insufficient number of attendants, as well as to a certain amount of callousness displayed both by the physicians and the attendants, and their want of sympathy for the unfortunate patients. In regard to the food the minority report says that while there is a conflict of evidence, it seems that the great preponderance of testimony is that the food is badly prepared and badly served, and sometimes unfit to eat. The food is often cold and unpalatable when served. Mr. Hay and Mr. Wallace affirm.

The minority hold that the evidence taken shows that the manner of commitment of soldiers and sailors to the hospital is not in accordance with the principles of law and justice which should be applied in cases involving the liberty and property of the citizens of this country. In the cases of the men sent from the soldiers' homes to the hospital, they are committed upon the order of the president of the board of managers of the national homes without invoking any legal process.

The minority finds that from the evidence it appears that besides the annual appropriation made for the support of the hospital a large amount of money is derived from the pensions of soldiers and sailors committed there, and that this money is not used for the benefit of the pensioners in particular, but is spent upon the improvements to the grounds and buildings, and that this should be remedied by law, so that these pensioners get the benefit of their pensions.

Regarding Employees.

In regard to the employees of the hospital the minority members suggest in their report that the superintendent should employ those who have to serve under him, but that Congress should fix the salaries of those so employed. The minority also finds that the manner in which the appropriations for the hospital money is faulty, and that as a remedy there should be a separate bill prepared by the Committee on Appropriations, in which the items for the hospital should be set out in detail.

In regard to the appointment of a lunacy commission, the minority members suggest that such a body be formed in the District to be composed of three members, whose terms of office and compensation shall be fixed by Congress. One member to be a surgeon in the army, to be designated by the Secretary of War; one to be a surgeon in the navy, to be designated by the Secretary of the Navy; and the third to be a citizen of the District, to be appointed by the board of District Commissioners.

The investigations of the committee cover a period from October, 1903, to the present time. In pursuit of information concerning the management of hospitals for the insane, the committee visited some of the principal asylums in the East and examined 28 witnesses, including employees, former employees, superintendents of other hospitals, and the persons filing the complaint against the St. Elizabeth institution that brought about the investigation.

HIGH SCHOOL GETS PICTURE.

Portrait of Frances E. Willard Unveiled with Ceremony.

With appropriate ceremonies and before a large gathering of school children, their parents, and friends, a handsome picture of Frances E. Willard was presented to the new Business High School yesterday afternoon by the Central Y branch of the District Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Mrs. George Otis Smith, assisted by Mrs. Clayton E. Emig, president of the order, unveiled the portrait. Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey, of the board of education, made an address of acceptance for the members, which she represented. Allan Davis, principal of the Business High School, received the picture on behalf of the institution.

The services were opened by a song by the several hundred children. Yesterday was selected as the date of the presentation, to commemorate Frances Willard's birthday, she having been dead nine years on Sunday. "The life and character of Frances E. Willard" was the subject of an address by Rev. Frederick D. Power, D. D. He spoke of her great ideas and how she carried them and carried them into effect. Her early life, the great interest she took in education, and what she had accomplished, was also referred to by Dr. Power.

Just previous to the unveiling, two small children, Margaret Gould and Joseph Smith, each carrying an olive wreath and a sheaf of carnations, stepped to the platform and placed them on the picture. The portrait was decorated with an American flag and white ribbons. Following the unveiling, "If I Were a Voice" was sung by Mrs. Ralph P. Barnard. The exercises were closed by a prayer by Rev. Henry N. Croden, chaplain of the House of Representatives. Mrs. Mussey presided. Among others on the stage were Mrs. Clinton Smith, president of the District Woman's Christian Temperance Union; Mrs. Emma S. Stanton, secretary; Mrs. Charles P. Grandfield, treasurer; Mrs. Don P. Blaine, president of the District Y branch of the order. The hall was tastefully decorated with flags of the nation and of the school colors.

The Western High School is to be presented with a picture of Miss Willard within the next few weeks. The portrait is to be the gift of the Georgetown Y branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.
